

Contents		Chapter III	Chapter V
Chapter (I)		Defining of the Elements (Catudhātu-vavatthāna)	Other Direct-Knowledges (Abhiññā-niddesa)
The Immaterial States (Āruppa-niddesa)		Texts and Commentary in Brief	(2) The Divine Ear Element
(1) Ākāsānañcāyatana Jhāna	1	In Detail	119
(2) Viññānañcāyatana Jhāna	5	Method of Development in Brief	(3) Penetration of Minds
(3) Ākiñcaññāyatana Jhāna	6	Method of Development in Detail	122
(4) Nevasaññā-nāsaññāyatana Jhāna	8	(1) With Constituents in Brief	(4) Recollection of Past Lives
		(2) With Constituents by Analysis	(5) The Divine Eye - Knowledge of Passing Away and
		(3) With Characteristics in Brief	Reappearance of Beings
		(4) With Characteristics by Analysis	134
Chapter II		Additional Ways of Giving Attention
Perception of Repulsiveness in Nutriment		Development of concentration conclusion
Āhārepaṭikūlasaññā 14		The Benefits of the Development of Concentration
1. Reflection on Going	15
2. Reflection on Seeking	18
3. Reflection on Eating	18
4. Reflection on Secretion	19
5. Reflection on Receptacle	20
6. Reflection on Undigested State	21
7. Reflection on Digested State	22
8. Reflection on the Fruit	22
9. Reflection on the Outflow	22
10. Reflection on Smearing	24
		Chapter IV
		The Supernormal Powers (Iddhividha-niddesa)
		The Benefits of Concentration (Continued)
		The Five Kinds of Direct Knowledge
		(1) Development of Supernormal Power
		Ten Kinds of Success or Power
		(1) The Four Planes of Power
		(2) The Four Bases of Power
		(3) The Eight Steps of Power
		(4) The Sixteen Roots of Power
		(5) Resolution with Knowledge	