ASEAN: a social science course for ASEAN citizens is a social science course. It looks at the Association of Southeast Asian Nations from many perspectives – historical, geographical, economic and political. It aims to give learners a broad understanding of the role that ASEAN has in their lives and communities. Its three chapters cover:

- Southeast Asian history as it relates to ASEAN;
- how ASEAN works;
- current issues facing ASEAN and Southeast Asia.

This course encourages students to build skills as well as knowledge. Activities include map work, analysing and creating charts and graphs, working with data, interpreting cartoons and forming and expressing opinions through debates and discussions.

This book also contains a glossary and full colour regional maps. Major themes and learning goals are listed for teachers and learners. It works for both classroom use and for self-study.

The ASEAN course also contains a teacher's book and a DVD. The teacher's book contains instructions and an answer key. The DVD contains video clips and PDFs, and other data useful for further study of the topics.

Note Oo Education provides curriculum and support for Myanmar teachers and learners.

We believe that quality educational materials should be available for all, and should be owned, adapted and improved by those who use them.
